

MULTILINGUALISM IN SCHOOLS

Most schools worldwide are being confronted with what could be called the "Plurilingual pivot" -meaning changing towards a multilingual environment that embraces and celebrates languages in the classroom, school and community. This isn't always an easy transition and can be a quagmire when it comes to school policy and practice.

Global EDGEducation, led by Director Catherine Copeland, an experienced international school leader, works with schools, their leaders and language specialists to review and conduct bespoke services including language audits, policy revision and practical implementation. Catherine leads very innovative institute think tanks and workshops on these topics throughout the year which have been highly recommended by past participants as both purposeful and action outcome oriented.

It's not too late to jump-start the school year with a whole-school inspirational workshop/inset on multilingual classrooms and welcoming new students. If you are interested in any of these or other language related topics and PD for your school, Please contact Catherine at Global EDGEducation via www.globaledgeeducation.com